Forecast of Congress.

Probable Program of the Week's Work

IN BOTH SENATE AND HOUSE.

The Last Week of the Debate on the Silver Bill in the Senate—Some Other Important Measures to Be Considered. Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The Republican members of the senate will hold a caucus Tuesday evening to make choice of a successor to Sergeant-at-Arms Canaday, whose resignation takes effect on the first of next month. There are several candidates in the field, the chief of them being ex-Representative Valentine, of Nebraska. Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms Charles B. Rende, of Maine, has a strong following, and the friends of William Bailey, of Philadelphia. Senator Quay's candidate, think he has a fair chance of winning the prize. Col. Sword, of Iowa, is a candidate, and Mr. Reed, of Minnesota, is tentatively in the race. It is not impossible that when the Republican senators get together they will consider the possibility of making other changes in the executive staff of the senate.

The passage by the house of the caucus silver bill will doubtless operate to cut short the silver debate in the senate. A Republican caucus may be held on the senate side of the capitol early this week for the purpose of determining whether or not the senate will endorse the action of the house on this question. The general belief is that the Republican senators will not be able to agree upon a measure, and that the senate will pass a bill differing from the house bill, especially in the bullion redemption feature, and that the whole matter will then be settled in conference between the two houses.

Whatever the caucus determines it is likely this is the last week of silver debate in the senate. Senator Vest promises that he will bring up soon a new subject for debate for discussion, of which may occupy several days. The special committee, of which he is chairman, which spent many months in the investigation of the transportation of beef and beef products, has reported a bill, and during the past week the committee on agriculture and forestry reported a substitute for it.

Mr. Vest has given notice that some afternoon during the coming week after the set speeches on silver have been made he will call up these bills and urge their consideration to a conclusion. One or two appropriation bills may be called up for debate and it is not impossible that the conferees on the pension bill will come to some sort of understanding and report to the two houses, although this is not likely.

The river and harbor appropriation bill may be reported to the senate during the week. The committee on commerce has made such progress with it that Senator Frye thinks its consideration may be concluded by the middle of the week. However, there are several hearings to be given by the committee, and they may prolong the discussion to the end of the week.

The senate finance committee had hoped to have the tariff bill ready to report before the end of this week, but the indications now are that the bill will not be ready to return to the senate before the beginning or middle of next week. The Republican members of the committee have turned over to the Democrats several of the schedules, and all of the more important items in the bill will be passed upon before the end of the week.

Monday will be devoted to business concerning the District of Columbia. Another day may be taken up in disposing of senate bills on the speaker's table that are similar to house bills that have passed the house, and on Saturday, beginning at 1 o'clock, eulogies to the memory of the late Samuel J. Randall will be delivered. Eulogies on the late Representatives Wilber and Nutting, of New York, will be delivered Thursday.

Personal Mentionings.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The president and Mrs. Harrison spent Sunday down the Potomac on the United States ship Dispatch with Benjamin and Mary McKee and Mrs. Dimmick. Little Mary has been quite indisposed for a few days, and the trip was taken with the hope of benefiting her health. Mrs. McKee is in receipt of a telegram from Fort Monroe saying that the family and children are enjoying the trip immensely, and that Mary is much improved.

Dr. Scott, Mrs. Harrison's father, went to Philadelphia Saturday to stay over Sunday with the family of Postmaster General Wanamaker. After leaving there Dr. Scott will go to Washington, Pa., to visit with relatives for a few days. He will then go to Cape May in time to join the family, who will soon occupy a cottage in that city.

Saturday's Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—In the senate Saturday after the morning hour business the calendar was taken up and several bills passed. Private pension bills were also passed in considerable number, after which the senate adjourned.

In the house, the silver debate was continued. A motion to recommitt the bill with instructions to report for free coinage was defeated, yeas 116, nays 140. On the passage of the bill the yeas were 135, nays 119, after which the house adjourned.

General Kelton's Condition.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Adj. Gen. Kelton's condition is beginning to alarm his friends. It appears that following his nervous trouble has come an affection of the eyes that prevents any attention to his work. He has been granted a month's further leave and will spend this time at the sea shore under the care of an oculist.

Returned Home and Settled.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE, N. Y. June 9.—James O'Hair, cashier of the Erie railroad freight office, and whose sudden disappearance last Thursday gave rise to the report that he was short in his accounts, returned here last night and showed the affairs of his office to be all right. No reason is given for his mysterious disappearance.

A BOY BUTCHERED.

Startling Statement Made by a Little Girl at Columbus, O.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—Detective Kramer and Peter Murphy Saturday made a number of important arrests, and the indications are that they have unearthed a murder, which in its detail is of unsurpassed horror. Last Tuesday Mrs. Martha J. Bradford, who resides on Williams street, in the southeastern part of the city, called at the newspaper offices and reported the disappearance of her son Elmer, aged about 5 years.

Since then the police have been on the lookout for him. Next door to the Bradfords lives a colored man named Martin Bryan with his white paramour, Sarah J. Williams, and the latter's daughter Ida, a girl of 13 years. Some of the residents of the vicinity reported some suspicious circumstances to Detective Murphy, who endeavored to interrogate the Williams girl, but was prevented from so doing by her mother. Finally he took the child to the prison and secured a statement from her which in substance was as follows:

The missing boy was subject to epileptic fits, which had made him the source of considerable trouble to his mother. Monday afternoon the girl and boy had a quarrel, which brought on one of the fits. While in spasms the child was carried into the house, and, as the girl states positively, the colored man and the two women proceeded "to cut him all to pieces with a butcher knife." The body was hid that night, and the next day placed in a sack and carried out on the Groveport pike, while the bloody clothing of the little victim was thrown into Alum creek.

As a motive for the crime it is stated that the boy was insured in a company which makes a specialty of this character, the premium being paid in weekly installments, and a theory advanced by some of the officers is that the intention of the murderers was to hide the body till decomposition had destroyed the evidence of the crime, in the meantime giving notice of the child's disappearance, and finally in pretending to find and identify the corpse in order to obtain the policy insurance. The girl's story is corroborated in part by the discovery by the officers of a butcher knife stained with blood and blood stains on the floor of the Williams house.

All of the parties named are under arrest, but deny their guilt. The officers are searching for the remains, but thus far without avail. The husband of the Bradford woman claims to be a clairvoyant, and stated to the officers that he would locate the boy for $20, but that the child was dead. The detectives refused to believe this and arrested him.

DEATH IN A STABLE.

A Boy Roasted to Death, and His Uncle Blinded, and Perhaps Fatally Burned.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 9.—At 12 o'clock Friday night a stable belonging to Croak & Company, junk dealers, caught fire from spontaneous combustion and was burned. The fire was attended with horrible results. Daniel Croak, aged 12 years, son of Patrick Croak, was burned beyond recognition. Also Thomas Croak, an uncle of the boy, is so badly burned about the head that he may die, but, in the event of recovery, he will be totally blind. His face presents a horrible spectacle.

The Croaks reside on South Meridian street in a little one-story cottage; there is quite a large family of them, and the bed room being limited, during the warm weather, the victims have been sleeping in the hay mow. The fire originated from below in a large pile of rags.

Two large, fine horses were in the stable, and one of them making a noise, awoke the victims in the mow. By this the interior of the stable was one mass of flames, and Croak, gathering the boy in his arms, attempted to make an escape, but as he reached the ground floor the intense heat compelled him to drop the lad and leave him to perish in the flames. Both horses were literally roasted to death. The loss on stable and contents will amount to $1,000.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Vincenzo Verona fired four shots at his 17-year-old wife last night in her father's apartment, whether she had taken refuge after separating from Verona on account of his abuse. The young woman's father then fired at the intruder who fled and escaped. Jealousy caused the trouble. None of the shots took effect.

Serious Conflagration.

LONDON, June 9.—A serious conflagration has occurred at Gundersburg, Prussia, twenty-seven dwellings being destroyed and 200 persons made homeless.

Salvation Army Celebration.

LONDON, June 9.—It is expected that 100,000 members of the Salvation Army will take part in the celebration in July of the silver jubilee of the army's formation. The principal exercises of the occasion will be held in the Crystal Palace. The most prominent leaders of the organization in all parts of the world will be present.

Eugene H. Cowles Shot

Sensational Sequel to the Cleveland Abduction.

THE SHOOTIST LOCKED UP.

How the Tragedy Was Enacted—He Makes an Appointment to Meet His Wife and Brother-in-Law, and While Riding With Them Shows an Intention to Shoot His Wife, and Is Shot by Her Brother.

MONTREAL, June 9.—Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock a tragedy was enacted on St. Catharine street that has thrown the city into great excitement. The street was crowded with pedestrians, as is usual at that hour, they were suddenly startled by a flash of smoke and heard a pistol shot and a woman's scream. A two-horse carriage from which the shot was fired was brought to a stand-still and a lady alighted. In it were still two men, the one with a smoking revolver in his hand, the other unconscious and his blood streaming into the rugs of the carriage. The wounded man was Eugene H. Cowles, of Cleveland, son of the late Edwin H. Cowles, of The Cleveland leader. His assailant was C. C. Hale, of the same city, and the woman was Cowles' wife, and Hale's sister. A few hurried words were exchanged, when Mr. Hale ordered the cabman to proceed to the general hospital. Mrs. Cowles re-entered the carriage and accompanied the party to the hospital. Dr. Kirkpatrick, the medical superintendent at the hospital had the wounded man conveyed to a private ward where a close examination was made.

The physician announces that there is no immediate danger. The ball had entered the right side of the neck, and, after piercing the right jaw bone, emerged through the cheek of the opposite side. Mr. Hale surrendered himself to the police and was locked up. Among those present at Mr. Cowles' bedside are Mrs. Cowles, Mrs. Batton, his sister-in-law, Judge J. E. Ingersoll, of Cleveland, who will act as Mrs. Cowles' legal adviser, and R. D. McGibbons, queen's counsel of Montreal.

Mr. Hale makes the statement that the trouble between Cowles and his wife was caused by Cowles making two trips to Europe with a woman known as King or Wilson, and who is now at a hotel here, having come from Buffalo last Monday. Mrs. Cowles had applied for a divorce on the ground of adultery. Cowles admitted his guilt, but declared that his wife had condoned the offense. Mrs. Cowles, however, had in her possession a letter in which he admitted the facts on which she based her application.

After the parties all arrived here a consultation was had, and Cowles promised to meet his wife and arrange a settlement of their affairs. Yesterday's meeting and tragedy ensued. Cowles wished the interview with his wife to be private, but Hale refused and accompanied them in a cab for a drive in the park. The interview was in progress when Cowles made a movement as if to draw a revolver, when Hale anticipated him with the result as stated. Cowles' little daughter, Florence, whom it is alleged he abducted from her home in Cleveland, was placed by Cowles in the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Montreal. An order was procured from Judge Dugas to the sisters to produce the child, but they refused. The court will issue an official mandamus, when a guardian will be appointed. Mr. Hale will appear in the police court for an examination. Much sympathy is expressed for him and Mrs. Cowles as it is believed that Cowles intended killing both his wife and child unless prevented by her brother.

SEVENTY-FIVE LASHES.

A Well-to-do Farmer of Harrison County, Ind., a Victim of the White Caps.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., June 9.—The Harrison county White Caps were again on the road early on the morning of the 7th. At 2 o'clock on that morning they visited the residence of Walter Rowe, five miles from Corydon, took him from his bed, tied him to a tree and gave him seventy-five lashes on the bare back with switches, lacerating him in a savage manner.

They charged him with stealing some chickens from a neighbor, but this charge both Rowe and his wife deny most strenuously, and their neighbors do not believe it. This White Cap organization, it is known, often whips men and women for the gratification of personal ill will and malice.

Rowe is a farmer, and stands well with the people of his neighborhood. He and his family left their home Saturday afternoon and went to Corydon. He recognized two or three of the White Caps, and proposes to prosecute them. It is a fact, however, that in all the prosecutions against the White Caps in Harrison, Crawford and Orange counties there has never been a conviction, as the accused have always succeeded in getting their friends on the juries.

Saw Mill Burned and Lumber Damaged.

WARREN, Ind., June 9.—The saw mill of Mrs. Mary Anderson, at Lagro, six miles east of here, caught fire from burning sawdust, and was entirely destroyed. Loss, nearly $2,000; no insurance. Twenty thousand feet of lumber in the vicinity of the mill was also damaged.

Lost Bath Legs.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—Race Laun, aged 17 years, while attempting to board a train at Big Walnut station, to return to his home in this city, fell beneath the wheels and had both legs amputated. He cannot recover.

TRAIN ROBBED.

Masked Men Go Through an Express and Mail Car.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 9.—A Tribune special from Maudon, N. Dak., says: The through eastbound passenger train due at Maudon at midnight, arrived at 1 o'clock Saturday morning. Two miles west of New Salem and twenty-five miles west of here, the engineer and fireman were surprised by two masked men climbing over the tender and ordering the train stopped at the end of big revolvers. The summons was obeyed.

The express messenger, Argeville, hearing shots fired forward, and suspecting something, hid $600 in money from the safe, locked the small safe, put out the lights and ran back to New Salem. The mail agent was in the car, and he immediately obeyed orders by turning over the mail matter. A number of registered letters were rifled and then the robbers turned their attention to the express car. This they found was deserted, much to their chagrin, and mistaking the fireman for the express messenger, they ordered him at the points of their revolvers to open the safes.

He protested that he knew nothing about it, and finally satisfied the robbers. Then the train backed to New Salem and finally came on east. The passengers were not touched. A posse of men with the sheriff, mounted and armed, left on a special train for the scene of the daring robbery. Only four masked men were seen at any one time and suspicious are afe that only two were engaged in the work.

The Normanna May Be Bent the Record.

NEW YORK, June 9.—If the Hamburg-American packet steamer Normanna keeps up the speed which the report of the Red Star steamer Rhyndard, arriving Friday, shows her to be traveling at, the Hamburg lines will break all records to Southampton. The Normanna passed Sandy Hook on her way out at 8:52 o'clock on Thursday morning and the Rhyndard reports passing her at 3:25 o'clock the same afternoon 140 miles off Sandy Hook. She had traveled this distance in six hours and thirty-three minutes, which is equal to a fraction over twenty-two knots per hour.

Will Repeat at Leisure.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 9.—John H. Smith, aged 61 years, a contractor at the Boston Buckboard company's shop, and Miss Hattie Cheney, his 21-year-old employee, were married by the Rev. E. M. Poteat, of the Calvary Baptist church. Smith's relatives were bitterly opposed to the marriage on account of the recent death of his first wife, as well as the age of the bride, who is younger than any of his children. Two unmarried daughters, who formerly resided with him, have left their home in consequence of this step.

Stage Robbed.

LAREDO, Tex., June 9.—The stage running between Laredo and Guerrero, Mex., which left the former city at 5:25 p. m. Wednesday with Mexican mail and two passengers, was held up by two Mexican bandits twenty miles down the Rio Grande. One passenger was robbed of $700. The other passenger, Mr. Bolivar J. Pridge, of Victoria, Tex., late United States consul at Piedras Negras, Mex., escaped. A telegram just received from him at Guerrero, Mex., states that he arrived here in safety.

Stopped by the Police.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 9.—A Tribune special from Omaha, Neb., says: One of the bloodiest mills ever seen here took place Saturday night in South Omaha between Barney Taylor, a local heavy-weight, and Tim O'Horn, of Chicago. O'Horn was ten pounds heavier, and after the opening round had the best of the fight, although he was knocked down several times. Taylor was badly used up, and was only saved from a knock-out by the chief of police, who stopped the fight in the sixteenth round.

Sunday Ball Players Arrested.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—Several clubs of Tri-State Base Ball League were arrested yesterday for attempting to play their first Sunday games. At Youngstown the players and officers of the Youngstown and Wheeling teams were arrested, and the latter released to catch the train by paying $10 and costs. At Springfield local club and Mansfield team were arrested twice, and the police interfered at Akron. At Dayton there was a game with Canton, with the following result: Dayton 2, Canton 0.

Lady Base Ballists Arrested.

DANVILLE, Ill., June 9.—The ladies' base ball club, composed of ladies from Chicago and Cincinnati, defeated the Danville Browns yesterday by a score of 23 to 12, at an attendance of 2,000. Yesterday evening State's Attorney Blackburn swore out a warrant for their arrest for unlawfully disturbing the peace and good order of society. Officer Patterson arrested them as they were leaving town in carriages for Covington, Indiana.

Died in His Pew.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Rev. J. H. Knies, aged 55, died last night in his pew in the Emanuel Lutheran church, the pastorate of which he resigned two years ago after a paralytic stroke. He was for twenty-three years pastor of the Reformed Lutheran church in Buffalo. He was vice president of the general synod of that church in America and had written a number of works on theology.

No Fatalities.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 9.—All the passengers and train men injured in the wreck on the Louisville and Nashville railroad near English, Ky., Friday, are improving and none of the wounds will prove fatal. Mrs. H. C. Hodges, of Jeffersonville, Ind., and Mrs. John Johnson, of Memphis, Tenn., who were the most seriously hurt, are pronounced out of danger.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

MONDAY, JUNE 9, 1890.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY is reported to have eighty-four candidates in the field for office, twenty-seven of them being for Jailer. The Livingston County "floater" is in clover these days.

CAPTAIN MATT ADAMS having been defeated for Clerk of the Court of Appeals some of the papers are trying to give him a boost for Governor. He's a good man but—the Kentucky woods are full of such timber.

THE news from Gallatin County is that Judge Robertson will receive the four votes that county is entitled to in the Superior Court Convention at Lexington Wednesday. The delegation is not instructed.

THE Providence Journal placidly remarks: "Two years ago the Journal was formally read out of the Republican party of Rhode Island. Incidentally it might be remarked that the Journal appears to be in considerably better condition than the Republican party of Rhode Island."

Making Things Warm in Lewis.

Editor Mavity, of the Vanceburg Times, since he cut loose from the Republican party, has been making things very uncomfortable for the clique who have carried Lewis County in their vest pocket for these many years.

A few nights ago the office of the Times was broken open and the office ransacked. The editor's desk was pried and the private correspondence became public property. Copy on the hooks was read and heralded about town.

The Portsmouth Press, a Republican journal by the way, denounces the affair as "most infamous conduct" and "dirty gang work." It says: "There is no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage, and Mr. Mavity kept quiet, believing that 'murder will out.' A day or two later a prominent citizen approached him with inquiries showing him to be possessed of knowledge of the contents of the letters and copy at the Times office, and sharp questioning developed the fact that eight or ten of the gentlemen closely allied to the political combination possess the same knowledge. It is not possible to prove that they broke into the office, but how did they come into the knowledge they have?"

"Besides this, there is a postoffice sensation brewing in Lewis County."

Fire Him.

President Harrison is having lots of trouble with his Pension Commissioners. Corporal Tanner's profligate administration of the office caused him to be fired, and now his successor, Mr. Raum, is figuring in an unenviable light before the country. The charges against Mr. Raum are, first, that he has been engaged in selling to certain employees of the Pension Office shares of stock in a corporation or company of which he is President, which is organized for the purpose of introducing a patent refrigerator, which, it is claimed, is impracticable and worthless, and that in consideration of said purchase said employees are promoted in office; and, second, that said Commissioner of Pensions has recently, by an unjust and partial ruling, advanced and caused to be taken up out of their order many thousands of the claims of a certain attorney residing in the city of Washington, and in consideration thereof said attorney has become surety on the note of said Commissioner in a bank in the City of Washington for the sum of $25,000.

Concerning this same matter the National Democrat, of Washington City, says:

"Some few weeks ago George E. Lemon, a prominent claim agent of this city, made a written request of the Claim Agents Commissioner of Pensions that some thousands of cases, in which he was the attorney, should be declared completed and acted on at once. The tool of the claim agents replied officially that it could not be done. Both the letters are on file in the Pension Bureau, where they have been shown to other attorneys.

"But 'there is a divinity that shapes our ends,' etc. Only a few days had passed after Raum's refusal, until the creature and the creator met. In other words Raum went to see Lemon. What was the result of that meeting? Why $25,000 worth of Raum's notes were floated and the name of Geo. E. Lemon was on the same notes as endorser. A portion of this money was secured from the National Bank on Capitol Hill. That was but one result, however. Another one was that Raum issued the order necessary, thereby putting thousands of Lemon's cases clear ahead of all others in the office."

A resolution to investigate Mr. Raum is now pending in Congress, and it is not at all unlikely that the President will soon be looking for another Pension Commissioner.

TARIFF TALK.

Shots Fired at the McKinley Bill by Democratic and Republican Papers.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin, which has protection proclivities, makes the following comments upon the McKinley Tariff bill: "If American capital and American labor cannot produce cheap velvets, such as the poorer working girls use for their holiday garments, without a duty of 143 per cent., they had better be produced outside the United States. If American ingenuity and American industry cannot produce knives without a duty of from 90 to 125 per cent., our Connecticut brethren would do well to stop their exports and go into a more congenial business. If American capital and American labor, which is to-day producing cut glass of such superior color and workmanship that English gentlemen are furnishing their sideboards from Boston dealers—if this same American industry cannot produce vases, opal shades and lamp chimneys without a duty ranging from 224 to 450 per cent., the American glass industry had better be abandoned for the benefit of all concerned."

Cincinnati Enquirer: "Mr. Carlisle, a leading New York importer of linen goods, made a very pretty point against the McKinley bill on a hearing before the Senate Committee. Cheap tableclothes and handkerchiefs, he says, are taxed almost double what they have ever been, while the finer grades of linen are left practically untouched. That is the McKinley plan all over. Tax the poor and leave the rich go free. Mr. Carlisle further says that there is no manufacturer of these goods in this country worthy of mention, and that the new tariff strikes equally at our consumers and at the poor peasant producers of Ireland."

The Wichita Eagle, a leading Republican paper in the banner Republican State of Kansas, speaks of the McKinley Tariff bill as an outrageous performance, and "a cheap monkey show in the face of high Heaven and of the American people," which "takes dollars from the farmers and returns him dimes." Half a dozen other Kansas Republican papers are as openly opposed to it as the Eagle, and one of them says that in his rage for taxing everything McKinley has even "put a higher tax on salvation."

St. Paul Pioneer Press, (Republican): "It will be noted as a significant thing that those who approve the McKinley bill are those who preface their confession of faith with the statement that they 'have not looked into the subject carefully,' or that they 'are not familiar with the question,' or that they 'are not certain what its effects will be.' These gentlemen go on the assumption that a measure which has had the support of a majority of the Republicans in the House ought to be approved by the Republican voter. But the Republican voter does not reason that way. He is in favor of protection, but he is not bound to McKinleyism."

For the Farmer and Stockmen.

Conservative authorities are now figuring on a yield of about 450,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, as compared with one of 500,000,000, or thereabouts last year. This is a larger crop than a few weeks ago was looked for. Of course, the weather between this time and the harvesting of the crop may make all present estimates worthless.

A private message from the celebrated Ewell farm states that Brown Hal, 2:12½, has just paced a quarter in twenty-eight seconds, which is the fastest quarter ever made by a trotter or pacer. It is expected that he will lower Johnston's record of 2:06½. Competent horsemen claim it is within the range of possibility for Brown Hal to pace the four quarters as follows: 28, 30, 33, 31½ which would make a new mark of 2:02½.—Exchange.

An exchange says: "An Adams County farmer kills the beetle that has the contract for furnishing the country with grub worms, by suspending a lighted lantern over a kettle of lye. The beetle in full career, strikes the lamp, reaction sets in, and down goes the beetle to the bottom of the sea with his cargo of worms in the hold. In the morning the farmer skins the broth, and sets the table for a new deal, making a bonfire of the catch. His nightly invoice is about 500 bugs."

Save Your Pennies.

A little girl, daughter of a fashionable dress-maker, began in February to accumulate the pennies her mother might get in change, and which usually fell to the little one's share. She began with a large copper cent made in 1850. She now has 950 pennies in her bank.

A grocer's wife saved in a year 9,000 pennies given to her by her husband, who did not miss the sum practically. At Christmas time she carried them in a handkerchief to a store to buy a present and poured them out before the astonished merchant all in a heap.—Lexington Press.

How's This?

Near Hindman, Knott County, for some time past there have lived as neighbors, a widower by the name of Johnston, and his son, aged twenty-two years, and a widow, Mrs. Snow, and daughter. The elder Johnston wanted a wife, and his choice was Miss Snow, while the younger Johnston concluded to propose to Mrs. Snow. The proposal was made and accepted. Two days later a double wedding occurred. The widow became the bride of the young man, and the young lady filled the same position to the widower. After the ceremony was over the elder Mr. Johnston found himself to be the son-in-law of his own son and son-in-law of his daughter-in-law. The younger Mr. Johnston found himself to be step-father of his step-mother and the father-in-law of his own father. The two brides were equally related. The widow was the daughter-in-law to her own daughter and daughter-in-law to her son-in-law. The young bride was the mother-in-law to her own mother and the step-mother to her step-father. After figuring out the relationship of the strangely wedded couples, the question was asked: "What relationship will their offspring be to one another?"

Here and There.

Mr. J. B. Orr and family have returned from Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Clarke, of Covington, spent Sunday here with relatives.

D. J. HEATON.

Formerly of Maysville, Enjoys the Distinction of Being the Oldest Undertaker in the United States.

The oldest undertaker in the United States is D. J. Heaton, formerly a citizen of Maysville.

At present, Mr. Heaton is a resident of St. Joseph, Mo., where he has lived for the past forty years. Recently, the Sun-side Magazine of New York, presented Mr. Heaton with a fine gold-headed cane. It was a gift from the oldest undertaking journal in the world to the oldest undertaker in the United States. The presentation speech was made by Colonel John Doniphan, a native of Mason County. The following is taken from Colonel Doniphan's speech:

"The recipient of this token was born in Philadelphia, Pa., on the 6th of December, 1808, and has now passed the eighty-second mile stone of life's fretted way, sixty-six years of which has been followed in the pursuit of his chosen profession of undertaker. When one year old his parents moved to Ohio, and, in his 14th year he was apprenticed to Andrew Mitchell, a cabinet maker of Maysville, Ky. He assisted in making coffins of pine, ash, poplar and cherry, which by way of decoration were occasionally varnished and in case of wealth or station a few were covered with cloth and decorated with brass-headed nails. He has seen the business grow from this humble display to the gorgeous glitter and gold of the present paraphernalia, that marks the last rites to the fortunate ones of earth. In 1827 he first assumed the duty of interment on his own account the subject being a convict executed at Maysville, Kentucky, for crime. Soon afterwards he opened a business house at Ripley, Ohio, and in 1831 he married at Augusta, Kentucky, Miss Emily P. Donovan, who departed this life in St. Joseph in 1848. Their children are amongst our most reputable citizens. In 1845, he came to this city, then a village, and he has helped to make it one of the proud metropolitan cities of the Missouri valley. For forty-five years he has been a part of its active business agencies."

Tried to Board a Moving Train.

E. H. McGinty, a freight conductor on the C. and O., lost his life at South Portsmouth Friday evening. He was in charge of one of the gravel trains. It did not stop at that point, but while it was passing he jumped from the forward end, ran into the station house and asked the night operator to register for him. This done he ran back and attempted to board the moving train, but missed his footing and fell under the wheels.

The Portsmouth Blade says the accident was not witnessed by any of his crew or the station employes. After the train had passed his call for help attracted attention, and it was found that he had been dragged about one hundred feet; his right leg was cut off above the knee and the left leg and foot badly crushed. The injury was too great for his constitution and he died at 1:30 next morning. Mrs. McGinty started from her home at Covington on a special train, but received the news of her husband's death before arriving at South Portsmouth.

A Great Temperance Demonstration in London.

UNIQUE AND NOVEL PARADE.

Nothing Exactly Like It Was Ever Seen in the Great Metropolis—The Government Denounced by Several Speakers. Other Happenings.

LONDON, June 9.—There were hundreds of bands in the temperance procession Saturday, and between 500 and 600 banners. The emblems were so numerous and close together that the inscriptions could hardly be read by the spectators. They contained the mottoes of religion, temperance and workmen's societies, as well as portraits of the public men whose attitude on the publican pension question has won them the approval of the temperance people. Mr. Gladstone's picture was observed more frequently than any other.

The demonstration was an imposing one and interesting because of its novelty. Nothing exactly like it was ever seen in the metropolis before. One peculiar feature was the number of women who participated. They did not, of course, march afoot over the long route from the Thames embankment to Hyde park, but were escorted in carriages, vans and coaches. The vehicles were decorated with the flags and various appropriate emblems, two of them bore aloft the American flag. Another regular feature, and a pathetic one, was the grouping in certain carriages of widows, whose sombre garments proclaimed their misfortunes, and who held banners inscribed "Ruin Caused Our Sorrows." These were followed by wagon-loads of children, presumably orphans, with the significant query above their heads: "Who will compensate these?" This dramatic shot at the temperance proposal produced an evident effect among the on-lookers, as could be learned from the comments evoked among the crowd.

The marchers cheered for Messrs. Childers and Evelyn, and groaned for Hon. W. H. Smith as they passed the houses occupied by these gentlemen. There were countless vendors of liquid refreshments along the line of march—soft drinks, of course, being the only ones offered to the thirsty pedestrians—and they all did a brisk business. The police acted shamefully in permitting the procession to be interrupted and broken into at various points, so that great delays were occasioned, and it required four hours' time to cover the distance of two miles. It is charged that the police were in this matter acting in sympathy with the higher authorities, who had no reason to desire the success of the demonstration. Nothing, however, could ruffle the patience and good nature of the paraders nor baffle the coolness and good management of the leaders, and the affair was a highly successful one in spite of all hostile influences.

The chief harm done by the delays to the parade was in causing the speaking at the park afterward to be curtailed. The orators found time, however, to find some unpleasant accusations at the government and to make some cogent arguments against the idea of compensating people for the interruption of their vested interests in what has been condemned by society. Doubtless the government's supporters could offer plausible arguments in rebuttal, but they were not on hand to do so, and the crowd dispersed full of enthusiasm and convictions. Among the speakers were three American women—Mrs. Pearsall, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Forster—and they fully upheld the reputation of their country people for oratorical ability. The whole demonstration passed off creditably and the only unpleasant incidents were those occasioned by the lack of police protection before referred to. In one case an organized procession of brewers' drays broke the line and caused a delay of twenty minutes. The malice aforethought was so evident in this case, as well as the collusion of the police in the outrage that it is probable the matter will not be allowed to pass unnoticed. The government will, it is understood, be questioned as to its action or rather in the action of the police, and there is likely to be considerable trouble caused by the episode. The Temperance league is receiving large contributions for its work. Among those received Saturday was a check for $5,000 from Cardinal Manning on behalf of various Catholic societies.

Increase in the German Army.

BERLIN, June 9.—The bills increasing the strength of the German army, will it is figured out, cost the German people $5,000,000 yearly in the matter of salaries of additional officials alone, to say nothing of other and vaster sums involved. But the German people are patient under burdens and there is as yet but little sign of a revolt. The cloud on the horizon that may grow portentous in time, was perhaps made visible by the remarks of members of the reichstag during the debate on the bills. To effect that there was a growing sentiment against any great increase in the war budget, this statement was made not only by the radical who might be suspected of merely desiring to annoy the government, but by representatives of all the factions including the Centre and the National Liberals.

Effect of the Emperor's Labor Policy.

LONDON, June 9.—Emperor William of Germany is devoting himself assiduously to reading petitions on the labor question. His friendly attitude toward the working people has already caused a division in the German Liberal party in the reichstag. The party, which had formerly been united in opposition to Bismarck and the throne, is now divided, many members showing a tendency to approve the action of the emperor and to support his policy. Even in Russia the czar's council is considering a bill to compel employers to support employees injured in the performance of duty, and to require an employer to pension the widow and children of any employee losing his life while at work.

The expenditures of the pension office from June 30, 1889, to June 30, 1890, amount to $109,357,334. The regular appropriation for the year was $81,758,700. Thus there was a deficiency of $27,598,634, $21,508,834 of which was provided for by a deficiency appropriation in April, leaving $6,000,000 yet to be appropriated to meet the requirements of the year just ending.

Representative Butterworth has written a letter in which he expresses the belief that his anti-pensions bill will pass the house, but so amended as to remove certain objections to it in its present shape. He said it had its origin in a universal demand for certain legislation that would put a stop to mere gambling in farm staples and give legitimate trade and commerce in these products a chance to live.

A Bridge Jumper's Death.

CINCINNATI, June 9.—Dan. Wilcox, moved by a foolhardy ambition to beat the bridge jumping record, made a dive Sunday from the Louisville and Nashville railroad bridge, between Cincinnati and Newport, into the Ohio river. Andrew J. Suit, by Allan D. Cole Master Commissioner, to Carrie T. Suit and John A. Suit, 43 acres of land near Sardie, subject to the dower claim of Annie Suit.

THE Recorder says that the Boone County friends of Judge Brent, of Paris, are elated over the claim that a majority of the county delegation to the Superior Court convention is favorable to their candidate. This suggests to the Maysville BULLETIN a revision of its estimates in favor of Judge Robertson.—Covington Commonwealth.

Not at all, sir. THE BULLETIN has never claimed all the Boone County vote or a majority of it for Judge Robertson. One thing it has stated, though, and that is that a motion to instruct the delegation for Mr. Brent was voted down. Does that look like Brent will get a majority of the delegation?

THE regular pension appropriation for this year amounted to the sum of $81,758,700. In April, however, Congress was called upon for $21,508,834 more money to supply a deficiency in the pension office, and now another deficiency of $6,000,000 is reported. It looks like the enormous sum of $115,000,000 a year ought to satisfy the old soldiers, but the more they get the more they want.
